Environment, culture and heritage
Aboriginal cultural heritage
The park is in an area known as Garawer and is in the traditional lands of Aboriginal people with cultural history dating back at least 22,000 years. This landscape tells their story and protects cultural sites including over 80% of all rock art found in Victoria. Five rock shelters are open to public viewing; Ngamadjidj, Gulgurn Manja, Billimina, Manja and Bunjils Shelter (Black Range Reserve near Stawell). Begin your cultural journey at Brambuk NPCC and be sure to pick up a copy of the 'Aboriginal Culture of Garawer'.

Post settlement
The Grampians was named after the Grampian Mountains in Scotland by Major Thomas Mitchell on his 1836 expedition through western Victoria. Since this time the area has seen much change, particularly through industries such as forestry, stone quarrying, gold mining and water harvesting. The park has historically had dams and pipelines constructed for regional water supply.

People have been drawn here for thousands of years and tourism established its roots in the early 1900s. More than 1.3 million people from all over the world visit the park annually.

Geology
The sandstone ranges of the Grampians began forming approximately 430 million years ago as sediment deposited on the sea floor. Geological processes of pressure, heat, folding, faulting and erosion continue to shape the mountain ranges appearance. This geology is fundamental to soil composition, and has had direct impact on the flora found within the national park.

Wildlife
The park provides habitat for at least 230 bird, 40 mammal, 30 reptile, 11 amphibian and 6 native fish species. 50 species in the park are classified as threatened, including Brush-tailed Rock Wallabies, Smokey Mice and Powerful Owls.

Halls Gap and Fyans Valley are one area to see Eastern-grey Kangaroos, Emus and to hear kookaburras at dawn and dusk.

Plants
The park protects one third of Victoria’s flora species and is the most important botanical reserve in the state. Close to 970 native species occur and over 40 are found nowhere else in the world. The area is known for its colourful spring wildflower displays and popular walks include Heatherlie area, Sundial Peak, The Piccaninny and Mt Zero.

Caring for the national park
• Please take all rubbish with you and leave no trace of your visit - there is no rubbish collection in the national park
• Keep wildlife wild – do not feed the native wildlife
• Dogs and domestic pets are not permitted in the park
• Campfires are only permitted in the steel fireplaces provided
• Campfires are not permitted while bush camping – use fuel stoves
• Generators, chainsaws and firearms are not permitted.

Be prepared and stay safe
In an emergency dial 000 for police, ambulance or fire.

Important things to know
The park has many remote areas, plan wisely before your visit:
• Mobile phone service does not exist in many areas, you may get emergency phone coverage at high elevations
• Drinking water is not provided – bring plenty of your own
• Creekwaters dry up and should not be relied on
• Drive carefully on roads, wildlife regularly cross without warning
• Walking tracks, roads and visitor sites may be closed due to fire damage, seasonal storms or maintenance.

Be fire ready
Bushfires can occur during the warmer months. It is your responsibility to check current and forecast weather conditions. The park is located in the Wimmera and South West fire districts.

Campfires cannot be lit on days of Total Fire Ban, however gas cookers (fuel stoves) can be used for preparing food. On Code Red days this park will be closed for public safety. Closure signs will be erected, but do not expect an official warning from park rangers.
